WESTVIEW AVENUE

The Mediterranean-style mansion at 625 Westview, tucked away on two acres in Belle Meade, is a magnificent example of impeccable craftsmanship and design. Two massive chestnut arched doors—leading to the grand loggia on the left and the in-law suite on the right—symmetrically flank the façade, framing a meticulous European courtyard off the front of the house.

The elliptical entry greets visitors with brilliant waterjet cut marble floors, floor-to-ceiling French doors and Corinthian pilaster capitals. The spectacular architectural details continue throughout every room in the 16,050-square foot home, ranging from the chevron patterned walnut hardwood flooring in the dining room and salon to the lacquered walls with Greek key cut appliques in the Art Deco-inspired library. Each of the eight bedroom suites includes a private vestibule entry and heated marble floors in the bathrooms, and all seven of the home's fireplaces are graced with an antique carved marble or limestone mantel imported from Paris. Antique sconces and chandeliers from Italy and France add timeless elegance throughout. A craft room, elevator, gym, massage suite, garden room, reading nook and laundry facilities on all three levels leave you wanting for nothing. And with three kitchens, a wet bar, two butler's pantries enveloping the dining room, a 10,000-bottle temperature- and humidity-controlled wine cellar and an expansive media room on the lower level, not to mention 5,800 square feet of breathtaking outdoor living space, the house is a hostess' dream, as evidenced by all the memorable gatherings planned by owners Keith and Deby Pitts over the years.

Speaking of outdoor living, the exterior of this home is just as exquisite as the interior. The backyard boasts an in-ground heated swimming pool and spa, a pergola with a built-in gas grill and a Mugnaini wood-fired pizza oven for alfresco dining, multi-leveled covered terraces with heated stone floors and a formal garden. In the back of the property, a native perennial flower bed surrounded by a wall constructed of original stones from the Belle Meade Plantation serves as a thoughtful nod to the rich history and beauty of the surrounding area.

A true architectural masterpiece, 625 Westview welcomes you home with unparalleled luxury and style.
